

INFORMATION PROPAGATION AND FILTERING OVER SOCIAL NETWORKS

Lada A. Adamic

School of Information & Center for the Study of Complex Systems
105 S. State St.
Ann Arbor, MI, 48109
e-mail: ladamic@umich.edu

Social ties shape and are shaped by the information transmitted over them. Whether information propagates and whether it is changed depends on the strength of the tie, the surrounding social network structure, the interests and expertise of the individual, and the properties of the information itself. Collectively, this type of propagation can produce large information cascades, but also effectively stems and directs information flow.